

Tobacco Display Ban— Say Goodbye to the Power Wall

By Karen Haughey,
Brant County Health Unit

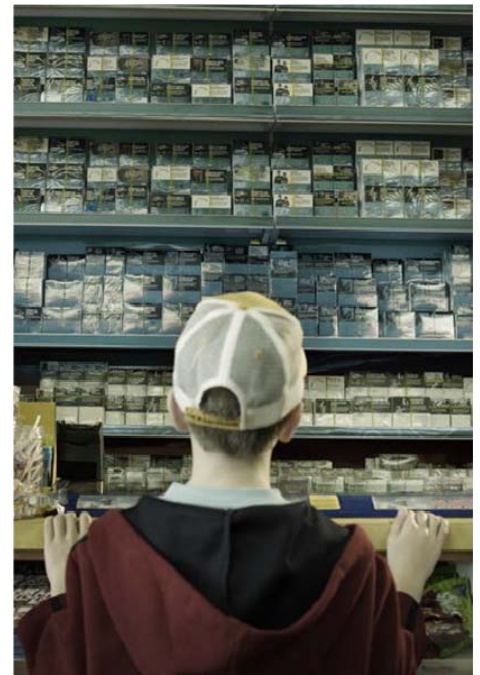

The Smoke-Free Ontario Act came into force on May 31, 2006. The Act:

- Prohibits smoking in enclosed workplaces and enclosed public places in Ontario in order to protect workers and the public from the hazards of second-hand smoke.
- Restricts how tobacco products are displayed and promoted at the point of sale.
- Strengthened the restriction on selling tobacco products to young people

Effective May 31, 2008, Section 3.1(2) of the Smoke-Free Ontario Act will read as follows (current 3.1(2) permits packages to be displayed):

No person shall display or permit the display of tobacco products in any place where tobacco products are sold or offered for sale in any manner that will permit a consumer to view any tobacco product before purchasing the tobacco.

Tobacco Products include: cigars, cigarettos, pipe tobacco and other specialty tobacco products such as chewing tobacco, snus, snuff, etc.

Message from the Editor

Finally, the winter that would not end has gone away, and summer is just around the corner. While most of us will try to relax and enjoy the warm summer weather many of our colleagues in Peel Region will continue to work hard on our behalf as they organize the 69th Annual Educational Conference (see page 10 for more details on the conference).

One of the key events at our annual conference is the Ontario Branch AGM. The AGM is YOUR chance to find out what is going on in CIPHI and what your Executive has been working on. This is also your opportunity to get more involved with CIPHI as elections are held at this meeting, giving you a chance to choose some of the Executive members who will work on your behalf for the next two years. This year there are 4 councilor positions up for re-election, as well as an opening for the position of President-Elect.

A year ago I put my name forward for a councilor position, and was fortunate to be elected. This past year has been an eye-opener for me as I had no idea how much work was being done by the Ontario Branch, nor how much work there is still waiting to be done. It has been a great opportunity to meet PHI's from across the province and to expand my knowledge of the profession and its organization.

CIPHI and our profession will be facing some changes and challenges in the not-too-distant future. Mandatory professionalism, core competency requirements and the potential use of technicians are just three of the many topics that are being dealt with at either the Provincial or National level. Our upcoming AGM gives each and every one of you an opportunity to participate in CIPHI and the discussion of these issues to some degree. You can do this three ways:

- put yourself forward as a candidate for a councilor position or President-Elect
- Vote – either by mail, by proxy or in person if you are going to the conference. (Did you know that out of almost 600 members in the Ontario Branch, there were only 94 ballots cast in last years elections?!)
- Volunteer for a committee to assist members of the Executive in their various projects

The Executive is involved in a lot of activities on your behalf. We cannot do this successfully unless we hear from members. Your input is crucial - and always welcome - if you want CIPHI to meet your needs. The enthusiastic participation of all our members will make us a stronger organization, with a more powerful voice that will be heard and listened to when decisions are made affecting our profession.

Letters to the Editor...

To submit comments, questions and any other letter to the editor, please email communications@ciphi.on.ca

Dear Editor:

I was pleasantly surprised to open your Winter Issue of the OBN to find an article about my recent entry into retirement. I thank you for printing it and certainly thank Francine Paquette for taking the time to write it. I would also like to thank all those who have provided congratulations and recognition. I really do appreciate all the kind words given to me. However, I must stress any accomplishments achieved have only occurred in partnership with many people who I have worked with on a wide variety of projects and initiatives. And, I thank my co-conspirators.

It is also a pleasure to see that there continues to be numerous environmental public health professionals in our Institute and field of public health that continue to take initiative, give all of their energy to promoting our profession and meeting the objects of our constitution. With core competency and professionalism becoming a reality the future looks pretty good. Even though our objectives sometimes seem to take forever to accomplish they are achieved over time. However, I need to stress that change only occurs because we are instrumental in making it happen. Certainly, we require various partners and political will, but without public health inspectors 'steering the cart', the vision and changes we desire will not happen.

Yes, I have officially received 'retirement' status from full time employment in a public health unit, but I intend to remain active in public health in one form or another as opportunities present themselves.

Thanks again for the recognition.

Best Regards,

Klaus Seeger
seegerk522@gmail.com

In the February 2008 OBN, our Past-President posed this question:

“If we recognize that sharing our experiences is necessary to inform best practice, what measures are necessary to support and enhance routine publishing by environmental health practitioners?”

We received this response:

I believe that two key components are required:

1. Core grants (via the government or private sector) will help build and support infrastructure in the field of environmental health science. They will provide a framework to support and maintain higher levels of research at the institution - activities which build on current strengths and promote public health applications.

While government has been the major investor in health promotion investment has remained relatively small, in part because decision-makers have failed to be convinced of its value. Collaboration with the public, the health sector and with other sectors is viewed as a strength in health promotion activities and needs to be fostered even more.

2. Strengthen or enhance the current infrastructure (if you would call it that). More money is required for public health. If I may borrow a quote "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure".

The tools of the workforce need to be strengthened (beyond a simple increase in personnel). Better information, data collection and accessibility are required. If stored centrally, and in such a way that the numbers mean something, this data will allow us to assess trends, make predictions, recognize associations, address and/or cope with emerging public health issues and allocate resources as needed in a timely manner. This measure may mend the current “broken” public health system. It will be more attractive to buy-ins from various sectors, provide consistent messaging across public health sectors and, most importantly, enhance cross-linkages and sharing of information amongst those who need it most – public health practitioners.

Seeing the Light: Better Service Through Improved Technology

By Dylan Dampier, PHI

Most health units will provide their staff with a flashlight to conduct their inspections. However, many employers do not take the time or do not have sufficient information prior to making a decision on which device to provide. If you are still struggling with a wimpy 2AA flashlight and straining to see during your inspections, it is time to upgrade. Flashlight technology has made several advances in the past few years, but not everyone has caught on. This may be due to the specialized services that these products are geared towards (Police, Security, Fire, and Military). Public health inspectors have been left in the dark, so to speak. If we have an opportunity to improve the tools that we use to carry out our duties we should, at the very least, explore the options. All that is required is a little specialized knowledge and a few extra dollars. Whether you are looking down a drain to see if the trap is dry or trying to negotiate a poorly lit restaurant basement, in the inspecting world brighter is better. Without a good quality flashlight with sufficient brightness it is difficult to conduct a proper inspection.

The ideal lighting instrument would possess the following characteristics:

Bright: Usually measured in lumens 65 lumens minimum, 80+ is ideal.

LED (light emitting diode) as a light source: LEDs are energy efficient, bright, shock resistant, and long lasting (50,000 hours of use, that is almost 6 years of continuous use).

Use standard batteries or rechargeable lithium ion as a power source: many high output flashlights use 3V lithium batteries which are quite expensive. Most flashlights can also use rechargeable batteries.

Regulated: a circuit is added to the flashlight that maintains the output from the batteries until the end of the battery life. This allows the flashlight to operate at a constant brightness until the batteries expire. Unregulated flashlights gradually dim as the batteries discharge.

Water Resistance: many models will have an "O" ring or gasket seal protection against water infiltration. Just in case it falls in a sink or it is raining.

Light and small: there is no need to be overburdened with a bulky flashlight, modern technology allows for compact size and excellent brightness.

Both these 6 inch flashlights use 2 AA batteries one costs $15 the other costs $60

The limiting factor, as one would expect, is the price. To take advantage of all of the above mentioned characteristics the price range is $60 for an excellent non rechargeable up to $140 for the latest greatest rechargeable (most suppliers will offer discounts for bulk purchases). This may seem like a lot for a flashlight, but you do get what you pay for. The true value of this investment is most apparent once it is used in the field. Given the comparison above, shouldn't we invest in the best equipment to provide the best service to the public? Once you 'see the light' it is impossible to go back to the dim world of the under powered inspections.

CIPHI Needs YOUR Help!!!

Our web-page desperately needs to be redesigned. www.ciphi.on.ca is our home in cyber-space. The Ontario Branch Executive recognizes that its current design does not meet the needs of our members.

A Committee is being formed under the Communications Division to create a whole new look for our website.

Tobacco Display Ban cont'd

In terms of display, no tobacco products may be displayed in a retail store. This means:

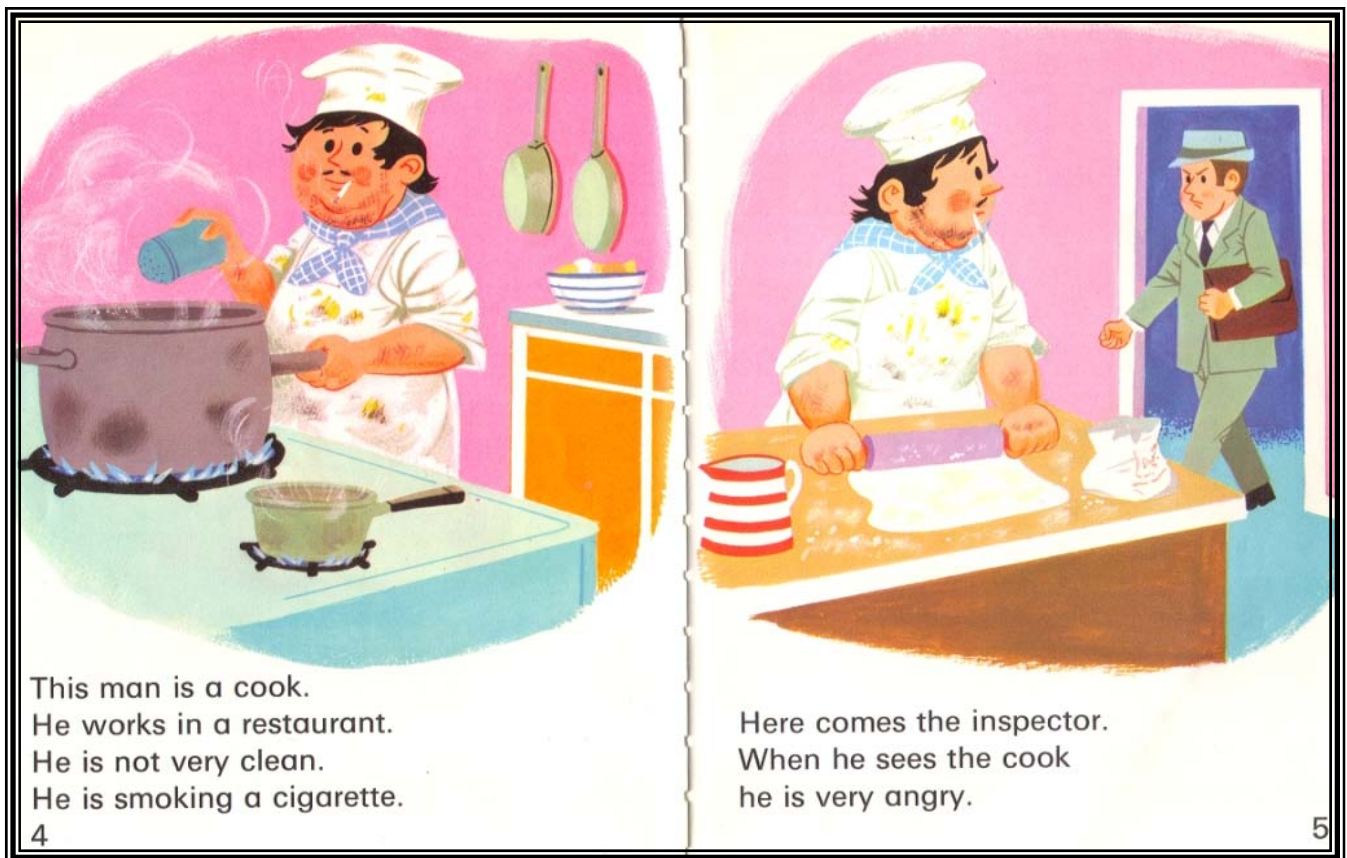

- Tobacco products must be stored in a way that prohibits consumers from seeing them before they are purchased. Customers are not allowed to handle cigarettes or other tobacco products before they purchase them.
- Store owners must ensure that tobacco products are not displayed to a potential consumer while re-stocking, conducting inventory checks or any other process that may require the storage device to be opened and tobacco products viewed.
- The brief time when a seller opens and closes the storage device and transfers the product to a customer is not considered a “display” under section 3.1(2) of the Act.

Removing tobacco from displays is key to comprehensive tobacco control programming because it prevents youth from starting to smoke, helps smokers who are trying to quit and helps recent quitters to stay smoke-free.

Local public health units will conduct inspections and investigate complaints regarding retail stores in order to enforce the Act.
